Princess Boats To Be Regular Callers

Since the marine regulations relative to wireless facilities on passenger steamers have taken effect, the Canadian Pacific Railroad Company operating the passenger steamers, Princess May and Princess Sophia between Victoria and Skagway, has decided to make Wrangell a regular port of call and their boats will call here both ways hereafter. The new schedule gives Wrangell two more popular steamers and another mail.

Customs Reports Show Big Increases

The quarterly report of the Collector of Customs shows the value of products shipped from the territory in the past nine months exceeds by two and one-half million the exports for the same period last year. The increase of the imports for the year ending June 30th last was over three millions over that of the previous year.

Progressive Party Nominates Ticket

After much adjournment caused by the delay of steamers from the south bearing the Ketchikan, Wrangell and Petersburg delegates, the Progressive party convention for the First Division met at Juneau Monday and after adopting a platform nominated the following complete ticket which will go before the voters November 5th. For the Senate—

E. Valentine, of Juneau.
H. B. LeFevre, of Skagway.
For the House—
John Reck, of Juneau.
Martin Olson, of Douglas.
Chas. E. Ingersoll, Ketchikan.
L. P. Dawes, of Wrangell.

The platform adopted at the convention contains planks endorsing the Initiative, Referendum and Recall, Australian Ballot, Primary Election and other things not found in the Territory.

The Clock and the Man.
When a clock is fast you can always turn it back, but it's different with a young man.—New York Times.

Enthusiastic Meeting Of Alert Firemen

Record attendance of members present. Recent blaze discussed pro, con and then some. Meeting breaks up in a feast.

Without doubt the largest and most enthusiastic gathering of the Alert Fire Company that has been held in years attended the regular meeting for the month of October at the Town Hall last Monday evening. The meeting was called to order by President Wm. F. Schnabel and after roll-call, the reports of the officers, which consisted chiefly of matters relative to the recent fire at the sawmill, were heard. The fire, which tested the efficiency of the company, probed the topic of the hour, was discussed pro and con and in the light of apparatus used and needed. Foreman Gingrass, Secretary Clarke and nozzleman La-Bounty were recognized as the heroes of the fight and their action in taking the hose beneath the burning foundation of the boilers was deserving of praise.

Under the head of new business the ways and means of securing some new and much-needed smoke muzzles, coats and helmets was discussed. Considering that the City Council is now negotiating under difficulties for additional hose and fittings, the company voted the greater part of its social fund to aid in this cause and decided to give another Firemen's Ball at the Red Men's Hall on the evening of October 19th in an effort to secure the necessary equipment in the shortest possible time. J. H. Wheeler, J. G. Grant and Oscar Carlson were appointed by the chair as a committee in charge of the event and as the business for the evening was dispatched the meeting was adjourned and the members made a most determined attack on the refreshments that had been prepared under the watchful eye of the Chief.

World Series On

It probably was an easterner that remarked that it is extremely fortunate that the presidential election and world's championship game do not happen on the same date. As it is, the feature events vie for preference as headliners.

The first game of the series was rained off Tuesday by Boston and yesterday's game resulted in an eleven-inning tie, the game being called off account of darkness.

Up Against It.
She—Can you manage a typewriter well?
He—No; I married one.—Exchange.

Humboldt to Carry Prisoners South

Deputy U. S. Marshal, Schnabel, will take the prisoners confined in the local jail south on the Humboldt to Ketchikan, where they will stand trial before the Grand Jury. The charges are principally for the usual liquor-to-indian offense.

Non-partisan Ticket

The following names forming a complete ticket, which will be put before the voters on November 5th were nominated in Juneau yesterday:

For the Senate—
H. T. Tripp, of Juneau.
J. M. Tanner, of Skagway.
For the House—
Wm. Stubbins, of Douglas.
N. J. Svindseth, of Wrangell.
Arthur Shoup, of Sitka.
C. E. Ingersoll, of Ketchikan.

Not Posted.
Post—Is her father a country gentleman? Parker—I can't say. I've only seen his behavior in town.—Satire.

Alaska Lecturer South on Spokane

Mrs. Mary E. Hart, official lecturer of the Pacific Coast Company, was a passenger south on the Humboldt to Ketchikan, where she will stand trial before the Grand Jury. The charges are principally for the usual liquor-to-indian offense.

Home Grown Apple

C. E. Weber was the proud exhibitor of a Wrangell grown apple one day this week, which is one of several grown on his trees this year. The apple (variety unknown) although not fully matured, was of apple pie size and quality and is a sample of what can be produced in this region.

The Traitors' Gate.

One of the most famous entrances in the world is doubtless the ancient Traitors' gate, in the Tower of London. It was through this portal for several centuries that traitors were conducted from the shores of the river Thames into the tower. To Americans probably the most familiar of these unfortunates was Sir Walter Raleigh.

Herod's Love For Marianne.

Herod the Great loved Marianne, his wife, so devotedly that when he was summoned to Rome by Augustus to answer certain charges made against him and was afraid he might never return he left her in care of three trusted servants, with orders that if he himself were put to death by Augustus she was to be immediately killed.

The Word "Nugget."

"Nugget" was formerly used to signify a bit or lump of anything, as a "nugget of tobacco." Nowadays, however, it is used principally of gold as it comes from the mine. This use is Australian. Governor Sir William Denison of Australia wrote in 1852, "In many instances the gold is brought to market in lumps or nuggets, as they are called."

Chinese Sausages.

In China sausages are made of meat from the hind thighs of hogs, which are chopped fine, mixed with four drams of sugar, rice wine and table salt, eight drams of soy and a pinch of pepper to every one and one-third pounds and dried in the sun until ready for tanning. Dried oysters and ducks' livers are added to some varieties.

Expensive.

"My wife still thinks I'm a treasure." "I wish mine did. She thinks I'm a treasury."—Satire.

Unanimous.

"Did the specialists decide on anything in Banks' case?" "Oh, yes; on their fee."—Baltimore American.

Not Worth Much.

"Is that dog of yours valuable?" "I guess not. I've lost him only once in two years."—Detroit Free Press.

The Reason.

Mamie—Why is Agnes so blue? Gladys—Because her nose is so red.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Premature.

"And what is your name, little girl?" "Don't know, sir. I ain't married yet."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Accommodations.

Knicker—Where did you stop on your auto trip? Bocker—In jail.—New York Sun.

Service Medals.

In Saxony the government gives a medal for long and faithful service in any employment.

Cold Rest.

"What would you do if you had a million?" "Nothing."

Gold Acts That Way Sometimes.

Parvenu—My son wants a magnet. Have you a handsome one in gold?—Pele Mele.

Bullfights In Spain.

Bullfighting, the national sport of Spain, causes annually the deaths of 3,500 horses and 2,500 bulls.

The Old London Watch.

London's police force owes its origin to the London watch, instituted in the year 1253.

Glasgow's Railway Station.

The Glasgow Central ranks as the finest and best equipped railway station in Great Britain.

Quick Growing Fungus.

A fungus of the jungles of Java grows so rapidly that it cannot be photographed by time exposure.

Boiled to Death.

Murder by poisoning in England was at one time punishable by boiling to death.

Maine.

Maine as far as the Penobscot river was seized by the British in 1814 and was held until the end of the war.

Convenient Interior.

Mrs. Knicker—There aren't enough closets in the flat. Agent—But you can use any room for one.—New York Sun.

An Accident at Sea.

"So you say you're an old time sailor. Did you ever have any accidents while at sea?"

"Once, mum, I dropped a bowl of hot soup in an old lady's lap."—Detroit Free Press.

He Was Tender.

"Young Mr. Softy paralyzed Dr. Simton when he went to be vaccinated," observed Gaswell to Dukane.

How was that?

"He asked the doctor to put him under the influence of anaesthetics."

He Will See Them.

"A prominent oculist says he never saw a pair of perfect eyes," said the woman who reads the newspapers.

"That," replied Miss Cayenne, "merely proves that the prominent oculist was never in love."—Washington Star.

Her Reason.

Teacher—Your full name is Bertha Johnson Kenmore, is it? Why do you not write it that way, my dear?

Fourteen Year Old Girl (blushing)—Because it—it sounds as if I was married, ma'am.—Chicago Tribune.

He Will See You.

"A prominent oculist says he never saw a pair of perfect eyes," said the woman who reads the newspapers.

"That," replied Miss Cayenne, "merely proves that the prominent oculist was never in love."—Washington Star.

Sparing His Feelings.

"I love you, but I shall never marry you."

Why not?

"Well, you see, I love you too much ever to think of getting a divorce from you."—Detroit Free Press.

Self Denial.

The key to success in any department of life is self denial. Idleness, laziness, wastefulness, come from lack of it. While industry, promptitude, economy, thrift and a successful career are the result of it.

GET THEM ALL.

Leave yesterday where it fell.
Trust tomorrow with God and catch every ray of happiness as it passes today.—Anonymous.

FOOLED THE STUDENTS.

A Clever Hoax That Was Perpetrated at Harvard University.

Richard Washburn Child, the novelist, when at Harvard university was the originator of a joke which has become perpetuated in the university. The Bookman describes the incident as follows:

"While an undergraduate at Harvard Mr. Child happened to be, among other things, one of the board of editors of the Lampoon. The Crimson, the Harvard undergraduate daily, had announced that it would print no edition on Memorial day, 1901. At Mr. Child's suggestion the Lampoon issued a fake number of the Crimson, delicately enough caricatured to deceive all but the most observant readers. The appearance of the college paper was accurately reproduced, even to certain typographical errors for which the Crimson had been notorious, but the contents were such that the whole Cambridge community was for a time in turmoil. Information that the jester of one of the college laboratories had upset a jar of microbes and that all those who had been near the laboratory should report at once to the college doctor; that so-and-so of the crew squad had rowed himself out of his shell, but had reached shore without ill effects, and that the president and fellows of Harvard colleges had decided not to offer President McKinley an honorary degree was given with the utmost gravity.

"A statement in the fake that the Crimson was making more money than was warranted and that $1.50 on all $3 subscriptions would be returned afternoons brought many fresh men to the Crimson office at the appointed time. A sign, hung in the night over the Crimson office, notified this announcement and was off another part of the hoax. Its complete success was for long the talk of Cambridge and the forbidden subject of conversation in the Crimson itself.

Sensible Advice.
A writer who had made a good bit of money at a single shake of the bag went to Charles Reade for advice as to investments. "Well," said Reade, "I should say just in the best gilt edged securities. Luminous Seas.
The sea is often luminous on summer nights because the phosphoric acid contained in decaying jellyfish, being deprived of oxygen, is converted into phosphorus. This unites with the oxygen of the air and becomes luminous.
